

Season 1 Episode 15

Atomic Jason Returns

It is nighttime and Jason and Mason stand in line at the front entrance to the city concert hall. Mason said, "Remind me how we got free tickets to this show." Jason said, "DG the Rapper is grateful for us that we helped him escape prison that one-time last August when we all got imprisoned by that crazy politician, remember?" Mason said, "I remember that but I really don't think we deserve free concert tickets for doing that. We did what was right because it was really the only thing to do." Jason said, "Well, rap is very important to DG and he would really like it if we could be here to watch his concert tour to promote his new album. He is supposed to be singing many of the songs from his new album, Murder or Death tonight." Mason said, "That is the most depressing name for an album that I ever heard." Jason said, "It's rap, it is supposed to be depressing. The rhyming scheme in the songs are supposed to be wildly entertaining." Mason said, "I will keep that in mind."

The line moves and Jason and Mason get into the concert hall and they get to their seats. They see hot women on the stage with air guns that shoot out T-shirts of DG the Rapper. They are shooting them out into the crowd. Jason stands on his seat and he waves his arms in the air. He shouts, "Me over here!" They shoot a shirt at him and he catches it. He looks at it and he sees the shirt is pink and it has pictures of girly ponies on it. Jason looks at the shirt and he said, "Hey, what gives?" Mason said, "Beggars can't be choosers and you looked to be a beggar so I guess it serves you right." Jason said, "When is the show going to start?"

Almost an hour later, DG appears on the stage on a flashy platform and sparks shoot off all around the stage and he sings a bunch of fast rhymes and he has female dancers that dance in sync to his song. He shines his big gold chain clock that he wears around his neck at the audience. Mason said, "So what, he is just showing us that he is rich from singing depressing stupid songs about nonsense. This is fun for anyone, anyone that does not own a book." Mason takes out a book and he starts reading it. Jason said, "You may see something interesting. He may sing a song about history or science or technology." Mason said, "Wake me up when that happens."

DG is in the height of his show and suddenly, the walls explode and evil thugs come through the walls and the girls on stage scream. DG tries to use his hip-hop stance to fight off the thugs but they beat him down. The thugs run to the front row and they steal all the valuables from the people in the expensive seats. Jason nudges Mason and Jason said, "Look, thugs are on the stage and they are stealing valuables from the people and they just kicked the crap out of DG. I was expecting a rapper like him to put up a bigger and far more entertaining fight than that but what can I say?" Mason looks at the thugs and he sees what is happening and Mason said, "I don't think this is part of the show. I think we should get out of here before we get robbed or worse, killed." Jason said, "You are only saying that because you don't like the music and the show." Mason said, "If all of this is a show than it must be pretty life-like then. I was for sure fooled by it."

Jason and Mason see a shadow of a caped man fly over the seats and he lands on the stage. The light focusses on him and he is Captain Fusion. Jason and Mason look at each other with joy. Captain Fusion punches out one of the thugs and another thug tries to take a swing at Captain Fusion. Captain Fusion grabs onto the thug's arm and he throws the thug across the stage. More thugs gang up on Captain Fusion and Captain Fusion takes heroic battle with the thugs and he ends up knocking all of them out on the floor. Mason claps and he whistles and he said, "Alright now that is a show. Bad guys come and the hero comes and defeats the bad guys. Justice is served."

Jason and Mason leave the concert hall with everyone else and they see Captain Fusion outside of the concert hall with news reporters surrounding him. Jason and Mason go up to Captain Fusion and Mason said, "Congratulations on the justice you served on that stage. That fight was better than the show we were supposed to see." Captain Fusion said, "Thanks." Jason said, "That was friggin' awesome. I love seeing the things I read about in comics and see on TV for real." Captain Fusion said, "Thanks again." Jason and Mason walk with Captain Fusion and they discuss the situation. Captain Fusion said, "I knew there was trouble here because of my recent findings. For the last few weeks, I have been tracking down a crime wave that has been taking place in San Francisco. These criminals seem to be attacking new age musicians whenever they perform new popular genres of music. I believe this may be the work of my old enemy Klassika. He is a deranged musician that was put out of a job when music synthesizers were introduced. His life has been one down fall after the other since 1966. I think this may be his work. I think he wants to attack rappers and popstars so people will be scared to hear their music so they will be forced to hear the music that Klassika does. I am onto him and I will take him down." Jason said, "Good luck with that." Mason said, "If you need any gadgets or help you know how to find me."

The next day, "Jason sits in his room reading a comic book and his phone rings. Jason answers it and he said, "Hello." Captain Fusion said, "Jason, it's me, Captain Fusion. I need your help. Meet me in my secret hideout now. I am faxing the directions and instructions to you right now." Jason looks at the fax machine and he picks up the sheet of paper that it prints out. Jason heads for the coordinates and he comes across a tree near the city park with a gray generic looking box on it. The instructions read to point your eye at the small red hole on the box. Jason does that and a sonic wave is generated from the box. Jason shrinks to a very small size and he is brought inside of the box. He looks around and he sees a dark lair. He looks up and he sees a black sophisticated looking chair in front of a large computer. Jason walks up a set of stairs that leads to this and the chair turns around and Captain Fusion is in the chair. Captain Fusion said, "Welcome to my ultra-secret lair. I bet none of you could find this place without me telling you about it." Jason said, "You got that right."

Captain Fusion shows Jason his computer screen and he loads a picture of Klassika on the screen. Captain Fusion said, "This is a photo of Klassika that was taken at the time of his first arrest in 1966. Using the programs, I have here, I can determine what he would look like over thirty years later." Captain Fusion presses a few buttons on the computer and it shows what Klassika would look like as an old man. Captain Fusion said, "I have read and scanned all of the recent newspapers to see if there is any information regarding him. I could not really find anything but I did find this, it says that a music recording facility had been closed due to lack of business from musical instruments not being used as much anymore. I have a hunch that that is where Klassika is right now and he is planning something right now. We need to get to the bottom of this. I need your help. I know you have a creative mind that could be used to my advantage. Let's head out."

Captain Fusion presses a button on his chair and a black car with a red stripe on the sides of it appears. Captain Fusion runs to the driver's seat and Jason gets into the passenger's seat. Captain Fusion drives the car to the front of the lair and it quickly grows and it is outside on the street. Captain Fusion drives the Fusion Mobile to the old recording studio that is old and run down. They drive through the abandoned security booths and they park in the parking lot. Jason said, "Why are there so many cars parked in this parking lot if the studio is abandoned?" Captain Fusion said, "There is something horribly wrong here and I will do something about it. Come with me." Captain Fusion and Jason get out of the Fusion Mobile and Captain Fusion turns on the cloaking device on it and it becomes invisible. The two of them head for the studio.

The door is locked and Captain Fusion punches the lock and it breaks and he walks in the studio with Jason. They see an empty lobby with no one there at all. They walk to the second floor where the recording room is set for the classical orchestras. The two of them look and they see thugs hanging out in this room. Captain Fusion said, "I see thugs. That is a good sign. I also see, oh boy." Jason said, "What is it?" Captain Fusion said, "I see Klassika and he looks just like the computer simulation. We need to be careful we cannot be caught." They hear a sound and they look behind themselves and they see two thugs. The thugs shout, "Intruders!" More thugs come and they pull Jason and Captain Fusion into the center of the recording room. Klassika said, "Ah, Captain Fusion, we meet again. Long time no see." Captain Fusion said, "I know what you are up to and you are not going to get away with it." Klassika said, "I see you also brought a friend along with you to. I guess there will be more witnesses to witness the worst pain anyone could feel. Even if you have an augmented body structure. Hit it."

The thugs begin to play in a long series of instruments that make a very weird sound. Jason begins to cringe over the weird sound. Jason said, "I think my head is going to explode from all of this." Captain Fusion falls to the ground and Jason does the same thing. Klassika said, "Phase one completed. Now we will begin the next phase." Thugs come out and they are armed with laser baseball bats and they begin to zap at Captain Fusion. They zap him up but they cannot completely defeat him because of his augmented body structure. Captain Fusion is badly beaten up and Jason's head is too painfully sore to do anything. Captain Fusion takes advantage of his crazy powers and he manages to lift himself up and grab onto Jason and Captain Fusion jumps out of a window with Jason in his arms. They fall to the ground and Captain Fusion breaks many bones in his body. Jason takes out his cellphone and he calls an ambulance.

Jason sits in the hospital's waiting room and the nurse comes out and she said, "Captain Fusion can see you but for a few minutes only because he really needs to rest." Jason walks in the room and he sees Captain Fusion is covered in casts and he is connected to a machine that is repairing his neurological trauma. Jason said, "Will you recover?" Captain Fusion said, "I will recover in time. I need you to do something for me. I will be out for some time and I can't let Klassika continue with his musical crimes. I need you to stop him for me. Try to use any means as you can and just defeat him and have him brought to justice." Jason said, "I will make sure that happens." Jason leaves the hospital with his head low thinking what he is going to do. He then gets an idea.

Jason goes into Mason's lab and he sees Mason working on a giant flashlight gadget. Mason said, "Where have you been?" Jason said, "I was with Captain Fusion. There is a problem, Captain Fusion is incapacitated and his old enemy Klassika is on the loose and he is committing musical crimes around the city. He was responsible for what happened at the DG concert." Mason said, "That does sound pretty bad. I wish there was something we can do to help." Jason said, "I wish for the same thing." Jason sees a drawer filled with old archived inventions that are not commonly used anymore. Jason quickly opens it up without making any sound and he sees a container of Super Powered Ego pills. Jason takes a pill out and he places the container down and Mason turns and he sees Jason and Jason quickly hides the pill he just stole. Mason said, "Have you seen my binders, oh there they are." Mason gets back to work on his giant flashlight gadget and Jason leaves the lab.

Jason walks outside and he takes the pill and it does nothing. Jason said, "I believe it takes at least a few hours before it takes effect. I will just have to wait until then. If that even happens. How do I know that these pills still work?" Jason waits for a few hours and he feels stronger and he feels like he can fly and shoot lasers out of his eyes. He magically appears in a green and purple super suit. Jason said, "It does work. Now I must go and find Klassika and bring him to justice. Jason, flies around the city looking for any crimes or clues of what Klassika could be planning next. Jason sees an old woman getting mugged by thugs. Jason, flies down and he fights off the bad guys and he gives the wallet back to the old woman. She thanks him and Jason, flies off. Jason said, "I wonder if there is anything going on at the concert hall. I will check there." Jason flies over to the concert hall.

In Mason's lab, Mason looks for another tool and he notices the pill container was left on a counter and the lid is open. Mason looks at it and he gives a look that he knows something is up. Jason goes to the concert hall and he sees a long line up for a popstar that is performing there tonight. Jason said, "I need to get in there, but how. Jason flies around the hall and he sees thugs in the back. They are loading weapons and other weird looking things into the concert hall. Jason said, "Not on my watch. I wonder how security lets these people get away with this." Jason, flies to the ground and he said, "Hold it right there musical attackers. You have picked the wrong night to attack the concert hall because Atomic Jason is here to make sure you never get another contract again." The thugs take out chains and they try to fight Atomic Jason and he flies into the air and he drops down and he attacks them one by one. Most of them are down but one of the thugs sneaks up to him from behind and he hits Jason's back. Jason falls to the ground in pain and the thug is going to take another hit at Jason. Just then, a blue spotlight comes down from the sky and it blinds the thug and he runs away and he runs into a sign pole and he gets knocked out.

Jason sees the figure land on the ground and it is a man with brown hair, a blue mask and his costume is all blue with some black in it. He is armed with a bright blue flash-light. The super hero helps Atomic Jason up and Jason said, "Thanks, who are you?" The super hero said, "I am The Blue Flashlight." Jason said, "I am Atomic Jason. I am glad you are here maybe you can help me. These thugs are working for a musical supervillain named, Klassika and he is planning on doing something here at this pop concert and we need to do something about this." Blue Flashlight said, "The only right thing to do is to help others so I guess I should help you." Jason said, "That's great. Let's go in through this back door." The two of them enter through the back door and they walk into the backstage and they hide behind a row of curtains. They see the backstage crew there doing their jobs and they see thugs working there to. Jason and Blue Flashlight slowly and quietly walk around the back stage and they quickly hide behind a wall and Jason sees Klassika in the back office. Jason said, "See that man in there?" Blue Flashlight looks and he sees the man and he said, "Is that the villain you were telling me about?" Jason said, "Yes he is and I know he is planning something and we must put a stop to this."

A bell rings and everyone is told to get to their places and Jason and Blue Flashlight hide in a garbage bin. The show starts and Princess Popstar gets on stage and she is about to sing. Thousands of people are in the seats and the concert hall is overcrowded. The Princess sings but then weird music plays and people in the audience cringe and they see Klassika walks out on stage. Klassika makes a speech and he said, "To all of those that spend their well-earned money on this concert and on albums of this music, you do not know what real music sounds like. This is how real music sounds like." The thugs come out with instruments and it plays weird music that is making people hypnotized. Jason is still in the garbage bin and he said, "That sound. I know that sound. I know exactly what he is doing." Jason and Blue Flashlight fly out of the garbage bin and they look out to the stage. They see what is going on. Atomic Jason makes a stand on stage against Klassika and he said, "You're finished and the show is over and I think you just got a call from your record company, they don't want to make any more albums of you because your music sucks." Klassika said, "You look familiar. Weren't you that kid that Captain Fusion brought along with him when he nailed him hard.” Jason said, “You disgust me.”

Blue Flashlight jumps and flies into the air and he turns on his blue flashlight and he blinds the thugs playing the weird music and they stop playing. Jason uses his laser vision to destroy their instruments. Jason said, “It’s time to fight. Hey Princess, give some fitting music.” The Princess Popstar said, “You got it.” She starts to sing some song about her relationship with a superhero and Atomic Jason and Blue Flashlight fight Klassika. They fist fight him and the two heroes fly around him and make quick strikes at him and Blue Flashlight even blinds Klassika with his flashlight. More thugs come into the balconies and they are armed with guns and they fire swarms of bullets at the heroes so they are forced to stay on the stage with Klassika. Klassika knocks the flashlight out of Blue Flashlight’s hands and it falls and rolls off the stage. Klassika grabs onto Blue Flashlight and Atomic Jason punches Klassika in the face and thugs grab onto Atomic Jason and they hand him to Klassika. Klassika holds the two heroes up in the air so everyone can see them. Klassika said, “I will give them what any normal superhero would fear.” Klassika removes the masks of the two heroes and the whole audience sees who the heroes really are. Atomic Jason is revealed to be Jason and Jason looks at Blue Flashlight and he said, “Mason? You are the Blue Flashlight?” Mason said, “Yes I am.” Klassika said, “It looks like I have two twin boys right here in my hands. I wonder how they will react to the different beatings I will give them. A robot voice said, “Not so fast. No one beats up my master.” The camera turns around and it shows a group of superhero robots and they beat the crap out of Klassika. Mason said, “Go robots. I was wondering when you would show up.”

The police come to the scene of the crime and they arrest Klassika and all his thugs. Klassika yells at Jason and Mason and he said, “Remember you two, as long as music still exists in this world I will return and you will not be lucky!” Jason said, “Yeah, I am very sure of that.” The police take them away. Mason said, “I guess we can’t be superheroes anymore now that our cover has been blown.” Jason said, “Let me ask you. How did you know I took a pill and how did you know I would be here at this time?” Mason said, “I guessed you would be doing something to help out Captain Fusion after his injury and I saw you left the pill container out on the counter and I figured that you took some of my outdated power pills so you can fight this villain and make Captain Fusion proud. I guessed you would be going to a concert since that is where those thugs seem to strike and I went on the internet to see who was currently playing there and it all came together. I also invented this new pill that takes effect within minutes.” Jason said, “That’s good. I knew all those robots that you built would serve a good purpose. You never build anything for nothing.” Mason said, “You are right on that one.”

Jason and Mason visit Captain Fusion and they give him word that Klassika has been arrested and justice was served to him. Captain Fusion said, “That’s great. My injuries are mostly healed and I will be on my feet in a few days.” Mason said, “That’s good.” Captain Fusion said, “Jason, Mason, you know, the reason why I would bring you on my missions is so you can learn to be a great superhero and you would know who my villains are. I may retire one day or I may get killed one day and I would need the two of you to take my place.” Jason said, “You have my word.” Mason said, “Is this really a good idea? I am not sure if I am up to the duty of being a superhero.” Jason said, “C’mon, we have defeated some pretty awful villains before and you invent useful gadgets. I would say that you fully qualify as being a superhero.”